

PowerPoint Presentation Storyboard

This is the home page and it will have a title which is 'The Human Body' in Century Gothic in size 44. The title will be black. There will also be a picture of the human body with arrows pointing at the 2 parts of the body and the words will be hyperlinked so that specific part of the body can be chosen. This text will also be in Century Gothic in black and in size 18. The background throughout the presentation will be a blending of red to pink and pink to purple with the direction will be going into the corner. (The same on each slide)

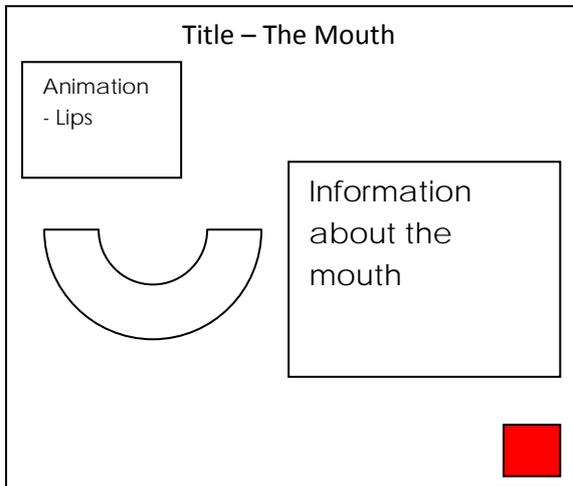

The next slide will be hyperlinked from clicking 'The Head' – this will then be the title for this slide in black Century Gothic writing in size 44. There will be a picture of a cartoon head with arrows coming off the parts of the head that can be chosen. This text will be in black and Century Gothic in size 18. This text will also be hyperlinked so the specific part can be chosen and learnt about. There will also be a home button so users can go back to the homepage.

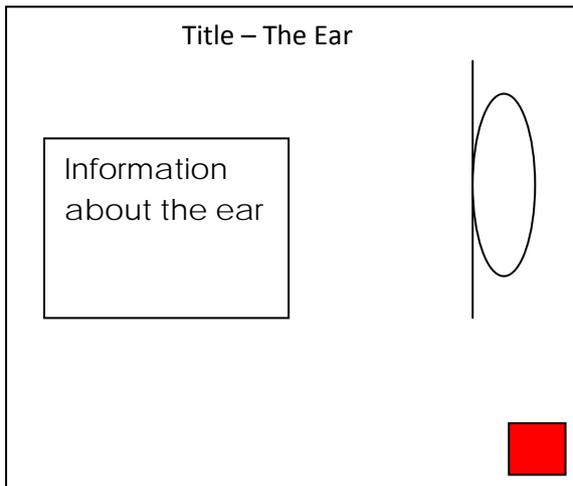

If the word 'Eyes' is clicked it will take the user to a new slide with the title 'The Eye'. The title will be in Century Gothic in black and in size 44. Underneath the title there will be a picture of the eye which will be labelled. There will then be information on the eye. The text will be in Century Gothic and in black size 15. There will be a back button so users can go back the 'The Head' slide. On this slide there will a animation of a winking eye.

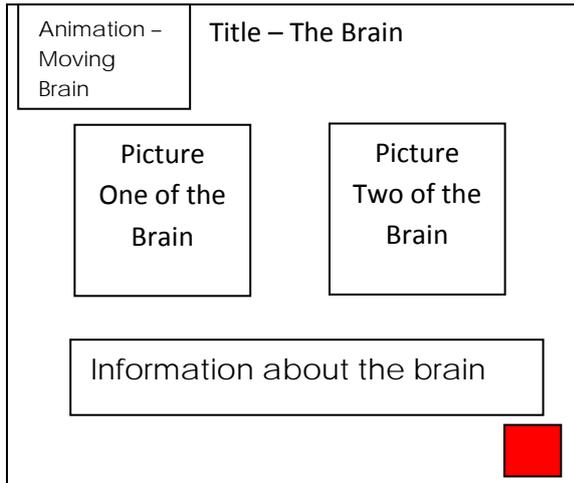

If the word 'Nose' is clicked it will take the user to a new slide with the title 'The Nose'. The title will be in Century Gothic in black and in size 44. Underneath the title there will be a picture of the nose which will be labelled and there will be also information on the nose. The text will be in Century Gothic in black size 15. There will also be a back button where the user can go back to 'The Head' slide. On this slide there will be a sound of a sneeze.

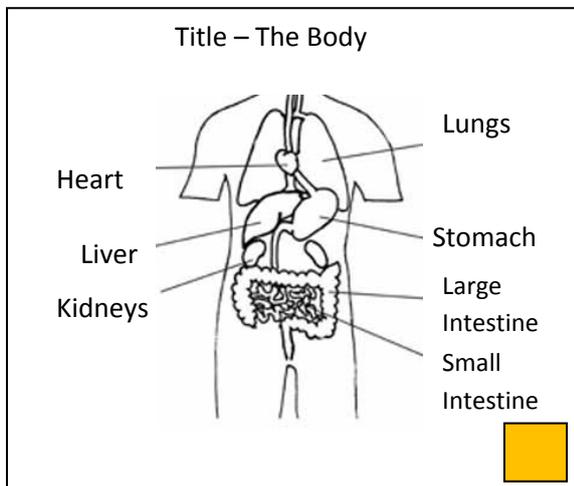

If the word 'Mouth' is clicked it will take the user to a new slide with the title 'The Mouth'. The title will be in Century Gothic in black and in size 44. Underneath the title there will be a picture of the mouth which will be labelled and there will be also information on the mouth. The text will be in Century Gothic in black size 15. There will also be a back button where the user can go back to 'The Head' slide. On this slide there will be laughing sound. There will also be a animation of a lips on this slide.

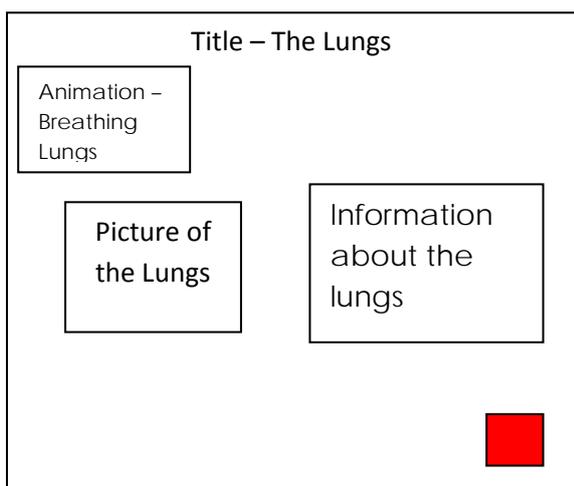

If the word 'Ear' is clicked it will take the user to a new slide with the title 'The Ear'. The title will be in Century Gothic in black and in size 44. Underneath the title there will be a picture of the ear which will be labelled and there will be also information on the ear. The text will be in Century Gothic in black size 15. There will also be a back button where the user can go back to 'The Head' slide.

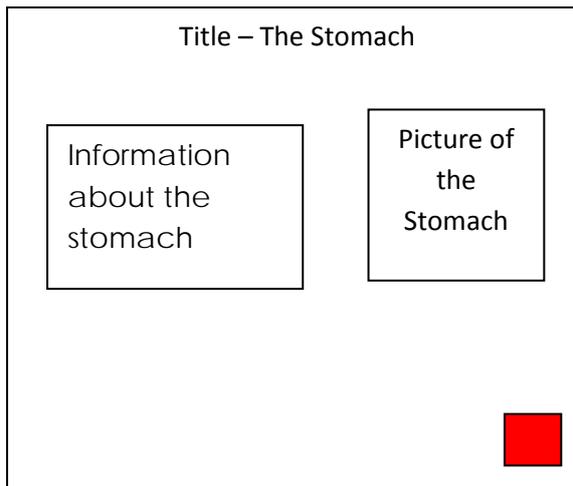

If the word 'Brain' is clicked it will take the user to a new slide with the title 'The Brain'. The title will be in Century Gothic in black and in size 44. Underneath the title there will be two pictures of the brain which will be labelled and there will be also information on the brain. The text will be in Century Gothic in black size 15. There will also be a back button where the user can go back to 'The Head' slide. This side will also have a animation of a moving brain on it.

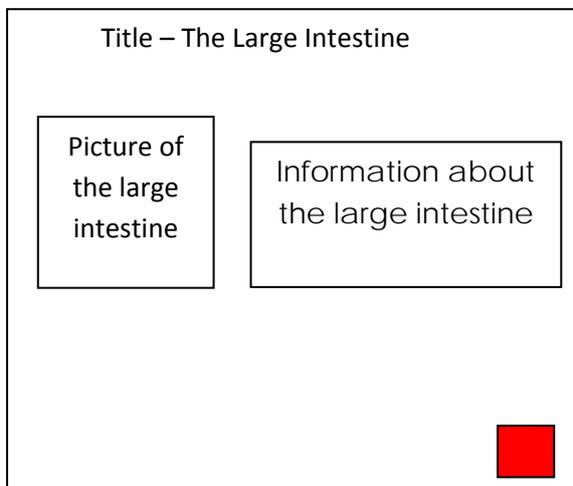

The next slide will be hyperlinked from clicking 'The Body' - this will then be the title for this slide in black Century Gothic writing in size 44. There will be a picture of the body organs with arrows coming off the parts of the body that can be chosen. This text will be in black and Century Gothic in size 18. This text will also be hyperlinked so the specific part can be chosen and learnt about. There will also be a home button so users can go back to the homepage.

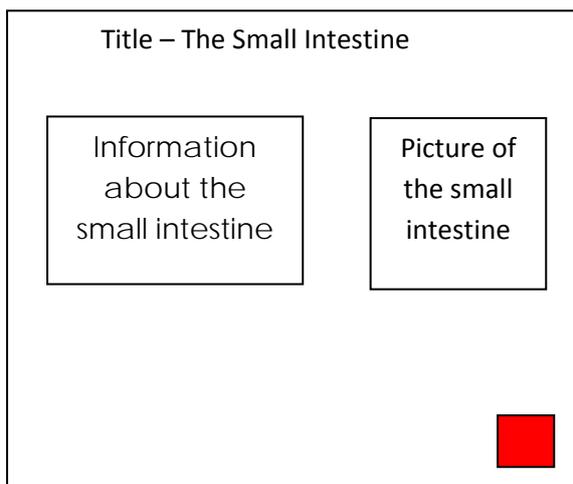

If the word 'Lungs' is clicked it will take the user to a new slide with the title 'The Lungs'. The title will be in Century Gothic in black and in size 44. Underneath the title there will be a picture of the lungs which will be labelled and there will be also information on the lungs. The text will be in Century Gothic in black size 15. There will also be a back button where the user can go back to 'The Body' slide. On this slide there will be a sound of breathing. There will also be a animation of breathing lungs.

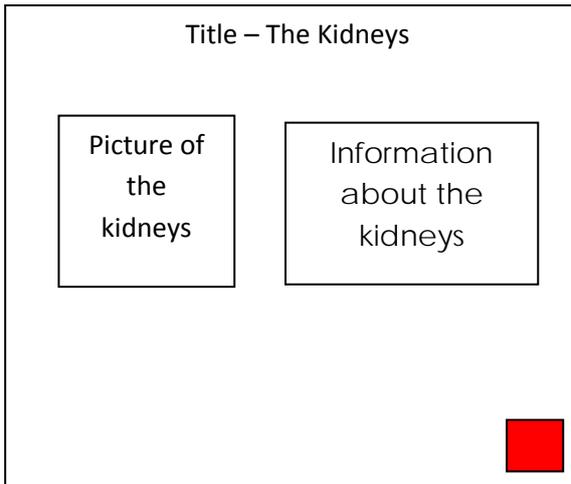

If the word 'Stomach' is clicked it will take the user to a new slide with the title 'The Stomach'. The title will be in Century Gothic in black and in size 44. Underneath the title there will be a picture of the stomach which will be labelled and there will be also information on the stomach. The text will be in Century Gothic in black size 15. There will also be a back button where the user can go back to 'The Body' slide. On this slide there will be sound of hiccups.

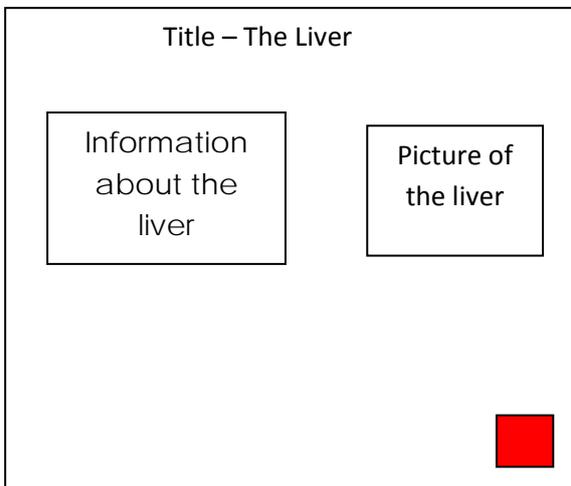

If the word 'Large Intestine' is clicked it will take the user to a new slide with the title 'The Large Intestine'. The title will be in Century Gothic in black and in size 44. Underneath the title there will be a picture of the lungs which will be labelled and there will be also information on the large intestine. The text will be in Century Gothic in black size 15. There will also be a back button where the user can go back to 'The Body' slide.

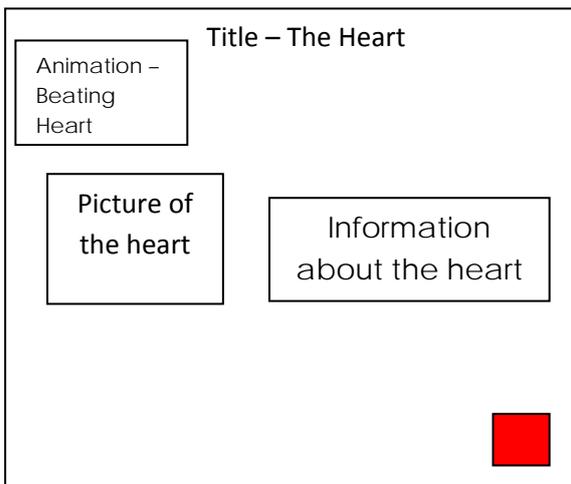

If the word 'small intestine' is clicked it will take the user to a new slide with the title 'The Small Intestine'. The title will be in Century Gothic in black and in size 44. Underneath the title there will be a picture of the small intestine which will be labelled and there will be also information on the small intestine. The text will be in Century Gothic in black size 15. There will also be a back button where the user can go back to 'The Body' slide.

If the word 'Kidneys' is clicked it will take the user to a new slide with the title 'The Kidneys'. The title will be in Century Gothic in black and in size 44. Underneath the title there will be a picture of the kidney which will be labelled and there will be also information on the kidneys. The text will be in Century Gothic in black size 15. There will also be a back button where the user can go back to 'The Body' slide.

If the word 'Liver' is clicked, it will take the user to a new slide with the title 'The Liver'. The title will be in Century Gothic in black and in size 44. Underneath the title there will be a picture of the liver which will be labelled and there will be also information on the liver. The text will be in Century Gothic in black size 15. There will also be a back button where the user can go back to 'The Body' slide.

If the word 'Heart' is clicked it will take the user to a new slide with the title 'The Heart '. The title will be in Century Gothic in black and in size 44. Underneath the title there will be a picture of the heart which will be labelled and there will be also information on the heart. The text will be in Century Gothic in black size 15. There will also be a back button where the user can go back to 'The Body' slide. On this slide there will be a sound of a heart beat. There will also be an animation of a beating heart.